IT'S UP TO YOU

Many times we have heard the statement that strict rationing of commodities is not necessary...that it is up to a patriotic appeal up to the American people, they will do their full duty.

The ban on pleasure driving is at least a partial test of this theory. The Government is putting it up to you squarely and plainly! Our armed forces and our allies need the gasoline. Will YOU force gas coupon stamps to be cut to two or one gallons, or will you voluntarily cut use the coupons you have?

Again.. will the fifty to seventy five per cent of car owners who do cooperate be forced to park their cars for the duration because other car owners "load" the ban on pleasure driving?

The next move as to gas will be based on average national figures, and it will be interesting to see how we appeal for no pleasure driving works out.

WAR AIMS

Sound post-war planning depends upon a three-point program: to win the war, secure the peace, and build a new world.

To win the war we must understand clearly who and what our enemies are. They are, first, the Axis nations with whom we are at war. But we have other enemies too: inner enemies of greed, hate, fear and selfishness inside ourselves and our nation. These are the allies of the Axis. They confuse our thinking, make us put ourselves ahead of our country, blind us to the frets we ought to face, and prevent us from working together.

They are the unseen saboteurs of family life that spread absenteeism and distrust in our war-industries. To defeat them we need fighting men and women who will make every home and every industry a part rn of teamwork and production for total victory.

To secure the peace we must first know how to unite people. We may plan a new world on paper; we must build it out of people. We must find the power to deal with human nature. This again means that we must conquer greed, hate, fear and selfishness wherever we find them. Without this victory any post-war planning is futile. With it we shall discover how to unite all men in the service of their nation, and all nations in the service of mankind.

To build for the new world we must see clearly what kind of world we want. We must recognize once and for all that material security alone does not bring happiness to men. Selfishness and materialism, however "enlightened," are the baseless ground for all the "isms" with their cruelty and disorder. They have been the death of every great empire and brought down to dust, again and again, men's dream of a better world.

The false philosophies of the age promise men a new world in terms of material gain and accomplishment. Our new order must be fundamentally dif- most and a spiritual order founded on God's laws and directed by God's guidance.

LOYALTY ON THE HOME FRONT

We feel sure that our people will cheerfully accept the hardships that accompany war-time restrictions upon their activities.

After all, the nation is engaged in a terrible war which involves every citizen, whether on the home front or fighting fronts.

Fortunately, we are relatively safe from bombing attacks, but, if the war is to be won, the civilian population must be ready to accept sacrifices in order that our soldiers and sailors can have what they need to whip the Axis.

Naturally, there will be some grumbling. This is inevitable. The lamentations will be uttered by persons who, in other breaths, will loudly proclaim their willingness to make any sacrifice to whip the Axis and their utmost desire to accept any hardship in order that our fighting men may have everything that they need in combat action. -Eastern Shore News.

PATH TO VICTORY

The best we can say about the progress of the war is that we are on the "Path to Victory." There are now on our production lines the weapons which when properly distributed and employed may well turn the tide in our favor. Beyond that any prediction is sheer folly.

We are really fighting two wars and in the day to day turn of battle anything can happen. Expect and be prepared for whatever occurs in the outfolding of destiny.

TUNE YOUR CAR TO Today's KIND OF DRIVING!

1943 DRIVING IS DIFFERENT! THAT MEANS YOUR CAR ADJUSTMENTS SHOULD BE DIFFERENT, TOO!

High speeds, long trips, and wasteful use of gas are OUT for the Duration. That calls for new adjustments, to fit today's kind of driving.

TO FIT YOUR CAR FOR THIS NEW KIND OF DRIVING... IT SHOULD HAVE THIS SPECIAL KIND OF SERVICE

1 NO MORE HIGH-SPEED PERFORMANCE—Your car was engineered and powered for finest performance at speeds much higher than 35 miles an hour. It should be adjusted for war-time driving.

1 TUNE-UP FOR SMOOTH OPERATION AT LOWER SPEEDS—We adjust carburetor, timing, spark plugs, choke, and heat controls, and put all units in top condition for smoother low-speed performance.

2 NO MORE HIGH-OCTANE GASOLINE—Octane ratings of all gasolines are definitely lower than in pre-war days. Your car should be adjusted to its new diet, to prevent wasteful "pinging."

2 ADJUSTMENT FOR LOWER OCTANE GAS—Your engine may need a valve grind, carbon removal, or a timing adjustment to fit it for today's fuels. We are equipped to do the whole job right.

3 LESS GASOLINE—Whether you're an "A," "B," or "C" book holder, every drop of gas must count. All maintenance operations should be made to provide maximum fuel economy at 35 m.p.h. and under.

3 FUEL ECONOMY ADJUSTMENTS—In addition to tuning up the engine, we check for dragging brakes, leaking gas lines, and other causes of fuel waste such as the use of improper lubricants.

4 LESS DRIVING—It's a fact—too little "exercise" for your car can be as harmful as too much. More frequent checking and adjustment of battery and electrical system will be necessary to prevent trouble.

4 BATTERY CHECK-UP—Let us check the condition of your battery regularly, and make sure that your generator and voltage regulator are functioning properly to keep your battery fully charged under reduced driving conditions.

5 CARS ARE BEING DRIVEN LONGER—Today's average car has older tires, older brakes, and older steering equipment. Safety inspection and adjustments are more important than ever.

5 CHECK BRAKES, TIRES, STEERING, LIGHTS, ETC.—Our "Safety Service" includes the important adjustments and replacements that are so necessary as your car grows older, to compensate for wear.

6 SLOWER DRIVING AND SHORTER TRIPS—Slower driving, frequent stopping, and short trips that never let the engine warm up thoroughly, may result in water and sludge in the crankcase, causing danger of sticky valves and clogging of oil screens.

6 MORE FREQUENT OIL CHANGES—Let us check your crankcase for oil dilution, every 500 miles or 30 days. Changing the lubricating oil at correct intervals will keep condensation, rust, acids, water and sludge to a minimum.

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL Lesson

Lesson for January 17

JESUS WINNING SOULS

LESSON TEXT—John 4:27-42.

GOLDEN TEXT—He that reapeth receiveth wages, and gathereth fruit unto life eternal.—John 4:36.

Man's need is the same wherever and whoever he may be. The Christ who met the need of the distinguished religious leader Nicodemus did the same for the poor sinful woman of Samaria.

The incident at Jacob's well in Sychar took place when Jesus, leaving Jerusalem because of increasing hindrance to His work, went up to Galilee. Unlike His Jewish brethren, who detoured around the land of it, he hated half-breed Samaritans, He "must needs go through Samaria," for there was a sin-sick soul that needed Him.

Our lesson abounds with instruction regarding soul-winning, both in principle and in practice. We here find Jesus:

I. Winning a Soul-Winner (vv. 27-30).

The faithful and kindly ministry of Christ led the woman to faith in Him as the Messiah. She left her water pot and ran at once into the city to share her new-found joy with everyone she knew.

Since the first expression of spiritual life is testimony, the one who brings a sinner to Christ not only saves a soul, but also wins a worker for Christ. One fears that we often assume that winning men to Christ is enough. We should expect that the new light should shine forth into the darkness.

So we have a two-fold reason for soul-winning: saving a soul from perdition, and setting a life on fire for testimony. It's a great business, why don't we do more of it?

II. Instructing Soul-Winners (vv. 31-38).

This work of soul-winning requires a sustaining grace which this world cannot give. Jesus by His own example showed His disciples how that strength comes from above.

He who had seated Himself at the well, tired and hungry, to await the return of the disciples with food, had been refreshed in the doing of the Father's will—in reaching this forlorn woman. "The greatest thing that ever occurs in the world is the transformation of a human soul, and the greatest joy anyone can ever have is to act as the divine agent in bringing about such a transformation" (Douglass).

There is another thing these soul-winners needed to learn—even as we need to learn and re-learn it—that the time to win souls is now. How prone the human being is to procrastinate. Tomorrow—next Sunday—next week, we will speak to someone about his spiritual need. Next year we will give more liberally for missions, or for the work of soul-winning in our local church. But "look on the fields." Do you not see "that they are ripe already unto harvest"?

Again, soul-winners need to remember our Lord's words in verses 36-38. Not only the reapers receive the reward, but also those who sow and those who labor in order that the harvest may come. The man who plows is just as important as the one who reaps—perhaps sometimes more important. Some of us who are called to be God's plowmen should remember that and be encouraged in our labors.

Like the perfect leader that He was, Jesus did not require of His disciples what He did not do Himself. So we find Him again in the work of evangelism. He practiced what He preached.

III. Practicing Soul-Winning (vv. 39-42).

There is real danger that those of us who have a measure of leadership in the church may be quick to tell others what they ought to do—and not do it ourselves. This is particularly true in this matter of soul-winning. One is apt to write, preach and teach about it, and then neglect to do it.

The disciples had been to town for bread. One wonders whether they had talked to the store-keeper about Christ. Have you?

Jesus did not theorize about it—He really sought men for God. The testimony of the woman He had won sent a host of people out from the city. He spoke to them the word of life and they believed.

This was evidently "group evangelism" as distinguished from the "personal evangelism" which won the woman. They are both important, and belong together. Some are saying that the days of group evangelism are gone. We doubt that, but certainly the days of personal evangelism are always here. Let us be busy about that kind of soul-winning —and God may so bless that we will have a real revival. Are you ready for it?

DR. MEADE FERGUSON
1869—1942

The state department of agriculture, and Virginia, suffered a great loss in the passing of Dr. Meade Ferguson, Appomattox, his native county, mourns his death. He was born, and reared to early manhood here in Appomattox. Although his life work necessitated his residence away in other localities, his abiding interest in his native county made him throughout his life one of us.

The early years of his life spent here was during that trying period following the Civil War when few had means beyond bare subsistence, and few found means for his family, he sought an education beyond the advantages of the one room schools of the county. Colonel R. B. Poore, an attorney of the county, actuated by his interest in helping young men handicapped by the lack of school facilities, offered to give private instruction to a class of young men. Meade Ferguson availing himself of this opportunity, while working on the farm walked more than five miles to the county seat to take special instruction from Colonel Poore including Latin and other studies necessary for his entrance into college.

With this preliminary training, he entered the V. P. I. where he found means of working his way through to graduation. After graduation he taught in Lost school. Later he went abroad and took post graduate work in the Universities of Europe, specializing in bacteriology, in which he took his doctor's degree.

For many years he had been bacteriologist in the state department of agriculture, where he rendered distinguished service, doing a great deal of work for the health department.

Although Dr. Ferguson's work was not directly connected with agricultural pursuits he never lost his interest in those who tilled the soil, and never failed to render every possible assistance to the farmers of the state.

For a number of years he was editor of the Southern Planter. He, more then any other individual was responsible for the introduction of the Grange organization into the state. At great personal sacrifice in addition to his duties in the department of agriculture, he became Master of the State Grange, and was serving his third term at the time of his death. He had much to do with the growth of the organization in the state.

Dr. Ferguson was twice married. His first wife was Miss Margaret Rimmon, of Fincastle, Va. Of this marriage there were two daughters, Mary and Margaret, who survive him. His second marriage was to Miss Eldona Oliver, of Georgia, who survives him, and has been prominent in Grange activities, and also in social and civic movements in the city of Richmond.

The writer had known Dr. Ferguson for fifteen years, and does not hesitate to say that he has never known a truer friend. This is the universal testimony of those who have known him. His death is truly mourned by all who knew him.

He was a Christian character, and a consistant member of the Episcopal Church.
